

AIRLOCK

A cinematic scene from a video game. In the foreground, a man with short dark hair, wearing a grey long-sleeved shirt and a large tactical backpack, stands with his back to the camera. A white dog is partially visible in the lower center. They are looking down a street that is overgrown with lush green plants and vines. In the distance, a large, multi-story building is visible, its facade partially obscured by foliage. The building has a sign that reads "RIVERST SAVINGS & I". The overall atmosphere is one of exploration and survival in a post-apocalyptic world.

SURVIVE BELOW.
SCAVENGE ABOVE.

A post-apocalyptic survival base-builder.

THE HOOK

“The world above is lost. Below the ruins you dig in, power up, and build a home, then climb back into the dark to rescue the last of the living.”

THE AIRLOCK FANTASY

[HERO ART SLOT: DROP CINEMATIC KEY ART HERE]

Full-bleed cinematic key art: Kore, Marv and the ruined skyline.

“You are not the hero of this world. You are the reason a handful of people are still alive in it.”

The AIRLOCK fantasy: a shelter you carve, a family you gather, a surface that wants you dead.

THE CORE LOOP

One tight loop.

Every run up top feeds the base below; every room below buys another run up top.

The airlock: a living cross-section base.

PILLAR I

BUILD YOUR AIRLOCK

A living cross-section base, dug level by level into the earth.

Modules across 8 categories: Life Support, Farming, Medical, Storage, Security, Navigation, Provisioning and Connectors.

Every room trades against power, water, food, noise, morale and space.

KORE

PILLAR II

YOUR PEOPLE ARE THE GAME

Survivors you rescue have class, rarity, skills, traits and needs.

Assign them to jobs: a medic to the infirmary, a mechanic to power, a forager to the greenhouse.

They keep a daily schedule, get hungry, get tired, and can be lost for good.

“Not workers on a spreadsheet, characters with a name, a history and a body.”

PILLAR III

THE SURFACE IS A GAMBLE

Leave the airlock to scavenge fuel, parts, food and people.

The Altered still roam up there, and they are drawn to sound. Go too far, stay too long, make too much noise, and you don't come home.

Risk versus reward on every expedition.

THE STANDOUT

FIND THE LIVING. BRING THEM HOME.

A signal on the radio. A survivor detected out in the ruins.

Plan the mission, weigh the danger, send a squad. Talk them into coming back.

They only become one of yours when they cross the threshold of your airlock.

"A rescue is a story, not a menu click."

1

DETECT

A survivor pings on the radio, out in the ruins.

2

EXTRACT

Plan the route, weigh the danger, send a squad.

3

RECRUIT

Talk them home. They join only at the threshold.

PROOF, NOT PROMISES

THIS IS A WORKING GAME, NOT A PITCH-DECK PROMISE.

Base-building, power, farming, settlers, inventory, crafting and a full menu suite are in engine and playable today.

SYSTEMS DEPTH

EVERYTHING RUNS ON POWER

A real power grid: generators, capacity, load, overloads and blackouts.

Push the base too hard and the lights flicker, then trip. Morale drops in the dark.

Systems talk to each other, power feeds water feeds food feeds people.

“Consequence, not decoration.”

LOOK & FEEL

A WORLD WORTH SURVIVING FOR

Built in Unreal Engine 5. Grounded, grim, beautiful, nature reclaiming a dead city above, hand-built grit below.

Led by a AAA environment-art director; the look is the studio's core strength.

MARKET POSITION

A PROVEN SPACE, A DISTINCT SEAT

Deep systems meet grounded 3D characters: a proven, award-winning space with room for our own hook.

“Colony-sim depth with the intimacy and fidelity of a character-driven survival game.”

WHY THIS, WHY NOW

SURVIVAL + COLONY-SIM IS ONE OF STEAM'S MOST BANKABLE LANES

This War of Mine, Frostpunk, Oxygen Not Included and the RimWorld-likes prove a large, loyal, high-retention audience that buys deep-systems games and sticks with them for years.

01

LONG-TAIL GENRE

Base-builders sell for years, not weeks.
A back catalogue that keeps earning.

02

THE VISION

[HERO ART SLOT: DROP CINEMATIC KEY ART HERE]

Closing cinematic: the shelter, the family, the world above.

“Everyone remembers where they’d hide when the world ends. AIRLOCK is that place, and the people you’d save to fill it.”

AIRLOCK

Let's finish it together.
